Our Standard-Bearers. BY J. P. H.

U.p. freemen, in your might and glory, f. title child and old man heary, Y curls matured and man of prime, is fand to duly—now's the time. Show the nation that you hate E very enemy of State.

Shall we yield to despots vile?

Shall regulants, black with mile, G reat in nothing, without name, il othed of Senatori I fame,

A secrt again the cause that perished?
Not while heroes live who cherished
T ruth and henor more than life.

A aid bared their bosom in the strife, No, the nation yow will rise, Denounce the regreats and despise, Since Grant, the soldier and the man, Consents to lead our gorieus van. If any out your banners on the wall, U mort your guidons one and all, a on ne or have joined in any fight Like this. The sacred cause of right, Established once on battle-field, is curains to us; we cannot yield. C ome from the mountains and the plains O fall the land, join your refrains, Lord a lyour strength, the nation calls For volunteers to line her wails, An army spraigs from near and far— X erxes never led such ranks towar.
